OPERATORS GAIN POINTS.
 Advance in Wages and Other Concessions to Telegraphers.
 PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—Several important concessions have been secured by the 6,000 telegraphers on the Pennsylvania Railroad system at a Pittsburgh meeting of the general committee representing the operators and General Manager Myers of the company. Among the concessions granted were:

In addition to the general 6 per cent increase in wages recently declared by the company, the operators' increases were granted to equalize wages with the amount of work performed.
 Adjustment of rights of employees.
 Extension of the privilege to include some employees of the telegraph and agents departments to whom the privilege has not hitherto been granted.
 An agreement between the telegraphers and the railroad company that when vacancies are advertised any employee may bid for them regardless of his rate of pay or the rate of pay of the advertised position.

A few other requests that were made, including that of granting two relief days a month under pay 1/2 of full telegraphers, were not acted upon, but were held under advisement until a subsequent meeting.

On the night of Wednesday, Pa. attempted to board an electric car near Greentree and, missing his footing, fell under the car, which ran over him and cut off both hands.

PRISONER ON THE LEAD MAN

POLICEMAN CHASING BOYS
STUMBLES OVER CORPSE.

George White Had Swallowed Poison in Old Cemetery Near the Circus Grounds.

Policeman J. M. Horton of the Anacostia station arrested a corpse last night. Horton was one of the men detailed from his regular beat to assist Capt. Daly in the night patrol in handling the crowds at the circus grounds in Northeast Washington, and after the thousands of folks from the afternoon performance within the big tents had scattered to their homes, he was seen by a crowd of boys who had gathered in the cemetery near the circus grounds. When he put in an appearance they scattered and the policeman gave chase. Some of the boys ran through the old Graceland cemetery and Horton was seen to follow them. He suddenly spotted a human form lying on the ground beneath some bushes.

Confident that it was one of the capturers who sought to escape by hiding, Horton leaped over the bushes, grabbed the man's coat collar and accompanied the command for his "prisoner" to stand up. As he advanced, he saw the man's face, the glazed eyes and the sagging mouth was enough. Horton dropped his "prisoner." Even his long police experience was not sufficient to steel his nerves to absolute insensibility when brought face to face with death in so sudden and unexpected a way. Recovering his composure, the policeman notified Capt. Daly, and together they searched the pockets of the dead man's clothing, thus establishing the fact that his name was George W. White, thirty years old, of Douglas street and Bladensburg road, Avalon Heights. On the ground near the body was found an empty bottle of carbolic acid, and this and the seared lips and mouth offered a sufficient indication of the cause of death. Coroner Novitt gave a certificate of death by suicide.

Inquiry into the case showed that White was a married man, and that he had been twice arrested for failure to provide for his family, and that he was out on parole. His wife, Mrs. White, a blonde, six years old, live at 2418 G street northwest. White had been dead for several hours when found, so that it was obvious he had wandered into the cemetery from the circus grounds, and that the glare of the bands and the noise of the music had driven him to his death when he quaffed the fatal draught and died.

FAVOR OVERHEAD SIDING

BILL BEFORE CONGRESS APPROVED BY COMMISSIONERS.
Construction to Connect Warehouse
With Railway Tracks Near 1st Street Northeast.

Because the Commissioners believe that the future development of the square bounded by North Capitol, L and M and 1st streets northeast will be along business lines, they have reported favorably on the bill in Congress which would allow an overhead construction of a siding as a connection between a warehouse on the block and the railroad tracks near 1st street. Recently a hearing was held on this matter, residents and property owners protesting that the overhead construction asked for would interfere with the aesthetics of the section, would be an annoyance to the Sibley Hospital, and was generally regarded as undesirable. Former Gov. Claude Swanson of Virginia argued for the bill, and William McK. Clayton was the attorney for the protesting property holders.

The Commissioners believe the siding should not be extended farther west across 1st street northeast than a point just east of the intersection of North Capitol street. This restriction is suggested with a view to protecting from possible rearrangement the existing dwellings and other buildings located on North Capitol street. With this restriction added, a large building will interpose between the west end of the siding and North Capitol street.

Reply to Objections.
 One of the objections made at the hearing was that the Commissioners would be spoiling a coming street by allowing an overhead construction to be placed across 1st street. The plea was made that 1st street could be kept a residence street in the future. The Commissioners take pains to set forth their views on that subject.

The Commissioners believe that the ultimate development of this square will be along lines of business enterprise, with warehouses, etc., owing to the location in the proximity of the railroad, and that no residences will be located on that spot except perhaps in the future. The Commissioners believe that the location in the proximity of the railroad, and that no residences will be located on that spot except perhaps in the future. The Commissioners believe that the location in the proximity of the railroad, and that no residences will be located on that spot except perhaps in the future.

Sidings on Limited Areas.
 "The present law authorizes the construction of railroad sidings on a limited area contiguous to the railroad terminal structures and tracks. The Commissioners have given careful consideration as to whether this area is ample to care for the business of the city and the permit of its economical utilization, and are convinced that an enlargement of the area on which railroad sidings may be constructed is a matter of public interest. As conditions are at present a monopoly value attaches to the land upon which railroad sidings may be constructed, showing that there is a demand for more land of this character than is now available."

"Furthermore, conditions in the section under consideration are such as to lead the Commissioners to believe that no esthetic or other consideration would dictate a refusal of the permission sought to construct the railroad siding. Under present consideration, if suitable restrictions be introduced."
